Code Of Conduct

The Everyman Theatre reserves the right to ask anyone causing a disturbance to other customers, staff or the performance, to leave the venue.

Customers with learning disabilities will not be asked to leave a performance due to any behaviour that is a result of their disability, as per the Equality act 2010. Staff can offer alternative seating where possible and a chill out space is available in our Bar.

Children, school parties, youth groups and those in need of special care are the responsibility of their parents, guardians, teachers and carers, who must ensure appropriate behaviour in the theatre.

The use of mobile phones, cameras and any form of recording equipment is strictly prohibited anywhere in the auditorium.

Please respect other audience members and their enjoyment of the performance: don't talk, don't sing along (unless encouraged to by performers) and don't stand up and dance if there are people sitting behind you.

Customers must consume food and drink with consideration for others and must not cause disruption to the performance. Cups are available at our kiosk to pour wrapped sweets into before the performance starts.

Any food and drink consumed at the theatre must be bought from the venue. Please do not bring your own food or drink unless for medical reasons or for very small children.

We reserve the right to refuse entry or re-entry to the auditorium to customers who intoxicated by the use of alcohol or illegal drugs.

We reserve the right to remove customers from the venue, when intoxicated by the use of alcohol or illegal drugs.

We have zero tolerance for abuse or discrimination of any kind, whether towards other customers, staff or performers. Anybody who displays this behaviour will be removed from the venue immediately.

We are all part of making the theatre a welcoming, inspiring and creative space where everyone can feel they belong. We hope that you enjoy the show!
